WHEELING, DECEMBER 12, 1894.

Prof. Wilson's Literary Campaign.

Through the Register word comes from Washington of the literary campaign made for Prof. Wilson in the Second district. The publication is a defense of the activity of the congressional campaign committee in this branch of the great work of trying to retain in Congress the foremost American representative of British interests.
It is revealed that 65,000 speeches were "franked and shipped into that district upon requisitions of Mr. McGraw." It was unnecessary to say that they were franked. If they could not have been franked they would not have been shipped.

Of these speeches 3,275 were copies of Senator Gorman's speech on the tariff, "franked upon Mr. McGraw's personal request for use in the western portion of the district." Why not for use in all portions of the district? Did Democratic voters in the western portion of the district seem to require a kind of medicine which it was thought unsafe to administer to Democrats in other parts of the district?

It is strange that it was thought advisable to send into any part of Prof. Wilson's district the speech of Senator Gorman, for the Wilson wing of the party has no love for Senator Gorman and holds his oratorical efforts in sublime contempt. Democrats of that way of thinking have lost no opportunity to denounce Senator Gorman as a very talented breeder of trouble in the Democratic ranks. They have even gone so far as to say that he was the tool of the trusts.

In spite of all that, in the hour of their extreme need they were glad enough to avail themselves of a speech which they had denounced as un-Democratic. This is sad. It is more sad to reflect that probably of all that mass of franked literature only a few pages were ever read. But Uncle Sam paid the freight just the same.

SENATOR VOORHEES is suspected of having about his person a noble resolve to change once more what he is pleased to call his views on the financial question. When Senator Voorhees finds the said dissolving views he is at liberty, of course, to do what he pleases with them. But why bother the country with matters of no consequence?

Dr. Parkhurst Can Stand It.

A member of the New York Presbytery offered a resolution recognizing the public services of Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, himself a Presbyterian. A row was barely avoided by withdrawing the resolution. The chief objection to the resolution was that it dealt with a worldly matter. Another was that in making out his case Dr. Parkhurst had gone into low resorts and seen wicked things. It may be recalled that this latter objection was urged promptly and in a variety of ingenious ways by persons who did not desire to be driven out of their profitable vicious employments, and by persons who were not eager to go the penitentiary. But "the end crowns the work" and justifies all the means which Dr. Parkhurst found it necessary to resort to in dealing with a desperate case of moral leprosy.

It is to be regretted that the New York Presbytery could not bring itself to recognize the public services of so fearless and efficient a public servant, but since Dr. Parkhurst is not particularly in need of resolutions of recognition and commendation, he will probably be able to bear up without the thing which the New York Presbytery has seen fit to withhold from him. He has done more for the city of New York than all the churches in it put together.

A PROMISING marriage has just taken place in Kansas. The groom was a man who had served twenty-two years of a life sentence for arson, robbery and murder. The bride had served ten years as accessory to a murder. If there be anything in heredity the issue of that murder will give society something to look to.

Speaker of the Next House.

Galusha A. Grow, of Pennsylvania, is a Democratic suggestion for speaker of the next house of representatives. Mr. Grow is a good man. So is Thomas B. Reed. The Democratic idea is that Mr. Reed is a better man for the place than Mr. Grow, or the Democratic effort would not be made in behalf of Mr. Grow.

Every Democrat knows just what sort of speaker Mr. Reed is. He has his grip on the situation all the time and all the Democrats in the house are not able to circumvent him.

The Republicans of the country would be disappointed if Mr. Reed were not made speaker. The new house, which the Republicans of the country had a hand in making, will not disappoint this reasonable expectation.

The fact that Emperor William smokes cigarettes accounts for a good deal in the short history of that young man.

Republican Nominees for Council.

With so much good material offered to them the Republicans of Wheeling will have no excuse for not offering to the people a first-rate ticket for council. If they choose the best of all who were suggested they will make a ticket that will command, because it will deserve, the popular support.

The aim of the Republicans should be to present men who, if elected, will conduct the business of the city on business principles, will look well to the public needs and keep a close eye on the appropriations. Such a Republican council will help the Republican party by helping the city. Any other kind of Republican council would be a drag on the party and a serious detriment to it.

The Intelligencer urges on its party friends to make a strong effort to nominate men whose standing will be an earnest of the good service they will render.

The administration currency scheme is not passing current at a hundred cents on a dollar.

The Wages of Sin.

There is a great deal of solid instruction in the case of Seely, the man who robbed a New York bank of $354,000. He got away from the scene of his wrongdoing, but he was not away from his own consciousness of guilt. Every moment was a miserable moment. It became a real relief to admit his identity and to look forward to his return to New York on the way to the penitentiary.

There are doubtless men who do not feel the scourge of conscience nor the disgrace of detection. They are men more hardened to crime than this man is.

UNDER NEW YORK'S new constitution convicts in the state prisons cannot make articles for sale. The question is, What shall be done with the convicts? They cannot be allowed to be idle. The best suggestion is to put them at work on the roads. This is the best solution everywhere of the convict labor question. It will contribute, also, to the solution of the good roads question.

The present session of Congress will not be a long one, but it will be long enough to give David B. Hill all the opportunity, his great heart may crave to run the harpoon into the administration, just for the fun of seeing the administration flesh quiver. If anybody can do it to the queen's taste Hill can.

BREAKFAST BUDGET.

It is suggested that, if China is compelled to pay a heavy war indemnity to Japan, she may impose a heavy export tax on tea in order to help pay it. It was expected that the war would cause a shortage in the crop this year, because of laborers being called to military service, but this has not been the case. The war broke out too late to have any effect on this season's crop.

Mary M. Seeley and Jason Hodges, of Provincetown, Cape Cod, were engaged to be married for forty-three years. The engagement was broken last Thursday because Jason pulled a cork screw out of his pocket along with his handkerchief. Miss Seeley says she is glad the discovery was made, because she had had her suspicions for thirty-five years.

A leading member of a Detroit (Mich.) church has come to its relief so often during the past ten years that he now declines to loan any more money to it unless his present (six per cent) mortgage are refunded into one bearing seven per cent.

Warden J. L. Pace, of the Missouri penitentiary, has reduced feeding the 2,100 and odd convicts in his charge to a fine art. In September the daily average cost per capita was 8.32 cents; in October 7.33, and in November 8.56 cents.

A single cargo of cotton which has left New Orleans for Havre is worth $550,000. The ship carrying it is the Maroa, and the number of bales carried 18,326, the largest number ever loaded on any ship in an American port.

In its original significance handshaking had its origin in suspicion. Two warriors making terms clasped their right or sword hands together lest one should take the other off his guard, and break his head or cut him down.

One Edward Lambert, called "the porcupine man," had horny warts or projections nearly all over his body.

Of his six children nearly every one had the same peculiarity, and it persisted for five generations.

The ancient custom of clasping the hands in prayer has been traced back to the bound hands of the captive, which came to be first the emblem of helplessness and then of supplication.

ON THE LECTURE PLATFORM.

Hon. John A. Hutchinson to Lecture on the Burr Conspiracy.

Parkhurst State Journal.
Hon. John A. Hutchinson has decided to go upon the lecture platform. He has reached this conclusion after having received a great number of letters from as many different places in the United States from persons who heard him deliver "The Conspiracy of Aaron Burr and Herman Blennerhassett" on his historic Blennerhassett Island during the sessions in this city of the Farmers' National Congress last October, and which letters contain cordial invitations to him to deliver the lecture in their respective cities.

Mr. Hutchinson is a man of great breadth of intellect and an orator of exceptional ability. His career on the lecture platform, we predict, will be very gratifying and eminently successful. It is unnecessary, however, to tell Parkhurst people this, for it has been their pleasure, and will be again, to hear this gifted orator.

Mr. Hutchinson is to be congratulated on securing the services, as agent, of Mr. Herman O. Smith. Brains, energy and hustle are the essentials of a good lecturer's agent, and Mr. Smith possesses all of these very desirable qualities. He started the Parkhurst lecture course and its great services and popularity each season testify to Mr. Smith's knack of "getting there" with everything he undertakes.

Mr. Hutchinson will begin filling his engagements on or about January 1. He will fill an engagement here before starting out. Then he has Morgantown, Charleston, Marietta, Wheeling and distant places on his date books.

I feel a great deal better than I did before taking your "Golden Medical Discovery" for my rheumatism, and it does all that it is recommended to do. I have a daughter who was troubled with a weak stomach so that she vomited everything that she ate and the "Discovery" cured her also, which I am thankful for.
